
TIGHT MONEY is an expression that is being used constantly of late but we are a little vague about just what it covers.

In some cases it provides a dandy reason for justifying a delay in going ahead with a venture that had been sort of touch and go to start with.

On the other hand, we recognize that there must be something to this 'tight money' bit. There is no question that there has been a definite slump in construction activity and other allied activities, so 'tight money' could very well be the cause.

AND LENDING institutions apparently have tightened up their purse strings.

Or you might say they have become 'tight'.

Maybe one of the reasons we don't understand all that we should about this over-worked term of 'tight money' is that we must have missed our turn when there was any 'loose money' around.

With us the lending institutions seem to have always followed this 'tight money' routine.

So what else is new?

THAT DELINQUENT tax story in last week's issue which reported that $109,465.16 in property taxes were delinquent for the 1965-66 year within the city of Campbell might have given the wrong impression to some members of the local tax-paying fraternity.

Geoffrey (Jeff) Whitaker, accounting budget officer for the city, thought we ought to explain that the delinquent $100,000 was not all due the City of Campbell.

It is Jeff's job to steer the city on the proper fiscal course through sound estimates of income and outgo and a $100,000 delinquency would sort of rock the budget-boat.

Jeff wanted to be sure that it was understood that only a small percentage of the amount delinquent was for city taxes.

JEFF'S POINT IS well taken.

Less than 14% of the tax dollar we all pay within the city limits actually goes for city operation. The city tax rate is $1.27 per $100 assessed valuation. The tax rate was $9.127 per $100 in our own area last year.

The city's share of the $109,465 is roughly about $15,000.

During the years that we have been exposed to city government in one way or another, it has been our experience that city officials often take the rap from irate and over-burdened taxpayers far out of proportion to the city's cut of the tax dollar.

We suppose it is because the city officials are more vulnerable, available and accessible than others in the Council maintains

Expressway cost should be shared by ALL in county

County expressway projects should be financed on an overall countywide basis and not "charged" to the particular city an expressway happens to cut through.

That is as far as the City of Campbell has gone "officially" in making any recommendation on Phase II projects of the county expressway program scheduled to be financed by a $112 million bond issue next February.

This recommendation on "spreading the money" will be presented to the County Transportation Policy Committee tonight (Wednesday).

What this city's recommendations will be as to specific expressway projects that should be included in the countywide program will have to wait until the City Council can wrap into one package the many features that have been presented for consideration.

But several ideas on projects that should be included were beginning to "jell" this week stemming from the public hearing that was held by the City Council last week on the proposed Phase II projects. The hearing was called by the City Council in order to assist the city staff and councilmen in the presentation of this city's recommendation.

PED-OVERPASS

A pedestrian overpass to accommodate kids and their bikes across the heavily-traveled San Tomas Expressway near Rincon Ave. was enthusiastically and emphatically endorsed by the majority of the audience who attended the public hearing.

Four mothers of school-age children living on Montezuma Ave., urged the City Council to place the pedestrian overpass near Rincon in the highest priority. They opposed the opening of Rincon by signals or any other way.

Mrs. Richard Bothman was the main spokesman for the group and told the council that there were at least 150 school-age children on their street.

In answer to a complaint of a businessman that the opening of Rincon was necessary for the businesses in the area to survive. Mrs. Bothman claimed that the "survival of the children" was equally as important.

The other mothers present from Montezuma who supported Mrs. Bothman were Mrs. Henry Hamann, Mrs. David Evans and Mrs. Mike Kennedy.

Another ardent supporter for a pedestrian overpass as opposed to an "open street" at Rincon was Mrs. Bonnie Hermle.

Carrying the ball for the opening of Rincon Ave. was Connie Russo Regas who presented a petition signed by 35 business people in the area advocating that Rincon Ave., deadended under Phase I of the expressway program, be opened as a Phase II project.

Mrs. Regas, in a personal plea to the council, claimed that the closing of Rincon was "strangling" the merchants in the Winchester-Rincon area.

She was supported in her argument by John Faber who maintained

Judge to rule on drive-in theater issue

Campbell's case against the location of a proposed drive-in theater off Union Ave. and McGlincey Ln. and adjacent to the freeway will get its first court test on Monday, Sept. 26.

Campbell is seeking an injunction against the theater developers to restrain them from proceeding with the porposed theater construction located in county territory but virtually surrounded by Campbell.

The area where the theater is proposed has been designated as in Campbell's "sphere" for planning purposes. Campbell's zoning prohibits such an operation but the county allows it with a use permit. Access to the area is across property within the city limits.

Despite Campbell's protests, the County Planning Commission as well as the supervisors on appeal, granted the use permit.

Associated with City Attorney Joe Bonacina in the case against the theater is Dick Morton, former Campbell mayor, and a leading San Jose attorney.

IMPORTED CARS ON DISPLAY--On Thursday-Friday-Saturday (Sept. 15-16-17), merchants in the Campbell Shopping Center at Winchester and Latimer in cooperation with Ken Keagan Imported Cars of Los Gatos are displaying a number of popular 'foreign cars' as part of a three-day celebration in special values that the stores in the center are offering.

School district asks O.K. of voters to keep same tax

Voters in the Campbell Union (elementary) School District will be asked to approve at the polls next Tuesday, September 20, the continuation for another five years of the maximum general purpose tax rate of $2.55 per $100 assessed valuation that was authorized in 1962

There will be 18 precincts in the election (at every school except Rolling Hills) and the polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The authorization that the electorate has been asked to approve will extend the previous authorization at the same rate for another five years through 1971-72. The previous authorization approved in 1962 expires in June 30, 1967 and without the approval of the voters the tax rate would revert to the $1.80 rate.

Superintendent Neal Royer explains that the current educational program of the district cannot be maintained at the $1.80 rate (as was the case in 1962) because the operational costs have increased in the district.

Royer cites the fact that when the authorization for the $2.55 rate was given in 1962, the district was operating only 16 schools.

Three new schools (Hazelwood, Castlemont and Capri) have been opened during the last five years and the district enrollment has increased by 2500 in that time, going from 9000 to the 11,500 who showed up this week on opening day. An increase of 300 over last year.

There are 454 classroom teachers in the system today. An increase of 75 in the five-year period.

In addition to the three new schools, seven relocatable classrooms have been acquired by the district to accomodate the ever-increasing enrollment.

Royer also points out that five years ago the district's operational budget was $4.2 million while the budget for this fiscal year will exceed $6 million.

District officials in requesting the continuation of $2.55 rate have emphasized that this does not mean an increase in taxes. The authorization of the electorate is necessary, if the same tax rate that has been in existence for the past five years can be continued for another five years.

Bikes go on block Sept 24

Transistor radios, suitcases, a car battery, cuff links, auto record players, and auto stereo players, and other items as well as 25 bicycles will go on the auctioneers block Saturday, Sept. 24 when the Campbell Police department holds one of their semi-annual auctions of unclaimed articles.

The auction, which always attracts a large crowd, will be held in the city hall parking lot, 75 N. Central Ave. Lt. Donald Burr will serve as auctioneer.

City residents to get free rubbish pick-up

Campbell City residents will get the chance Wednesday, Sept. 21, to have a free trash pickup.

On that date the Los Gatos Scavenger Company will, free of charge, pick up all rubbish and discarded materials placed in front of your home. If regular trash pick-up is at the alley-way, Campbell citizens are asked to place their debris there.

No large items such as furniture or appliances will be picked up and all discarded materials should be placed in boxes or containers light enough for one man to carry. All debris must be on the street curb before 7 a.m. Trimmings may be bundled in 4' lengths.

It is emphasized that the free trash pick-up on Sept. 21 applies only to residents within Campbell city limits. The clean-up is part of the city annual fall clean-up campaign.

"Get-to-know your-police" program starts

Chief of Police John D. Morgan is spearheading a program to bring his department in closer communication to the residents of Campbell by offering a series of classes in "public understanding of law enforcement."

Aware of the fact that most residents know a police officer only by the car he is driving, Chief Morgan invites householders to participate in these classes and become personally acquainted with the men in his department and the role of the police officer.

The program is co-sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and invitations have been issued to a limited number of residents for the first session to be held tonight, Sept. 14, in the cafeteria of Campbell High School. Dates of future classes, to be held at City Hall, will be Sept. 29, Oct. 11 and Oct. 26.

In the past, Chief Morgan pointed out, the Editorial

This is one way out

How to arrive at the proper solution to the traffic problems of this community is a difficult, complicated and confusing task.

That has become increasingly apparent as the City Council has attempted to formulate some sort of recommendation to be made with respect to the proposed Phase II program of the county expressway program to be financed by a county-wide $112 million bond issue tentatively scheduled for next February.

Even after a series of study sessions and public hearings in which a number of interested citizens participated, it is obvious that traffic projections for the future have become a matter of 'guesstimates' and without a crystal ball a strong case can be presented for each 'guesstimate'.

And who is to say who is right or who is wrong?

While the Phase II program of the expressway system is currently receiving the attention of the community leaders, it must be emphasized strongly that the expressway program is not the panacea for all the traffic problems that beset this community.

But we think it is extremely important that this city's expressway recommendation be coordinated with the overall traffic situation of the community.

For that basic reason, we are heartily in accord with the policy adopted by the City Council which will be presented to the County Transportation Committee for consideration.

This policy urges that funds from the county-wide bond issue should be allocated on a county-wide basis, for the expressway system supposedly is for the benefit of all the county.

Under Phase I, those cities that had no expressway within their limits, were allocated 70% of funds raised by their assessed valuation for bond redemption for projects within their city limits.

But cities with expressways were 'charged' on the same formula for strictly expressway projects within their city limits.

And Campbell is an expressway city.

Council members thus felt that the cost of the expressway improvements in Campbell should be spread over the county.

Under Phase I, the council has indicated, there perhaps was justification for the city to be charged for the initial expressway construction but additional lanes and landscaping are for the benefit of the entire county and not solely the city.

If this policy is adopted by the county, it would simplify the recommendations made by each city. It would also clarify a sticky situation that is getting progressively worse as each city vies to get as much out of the pot as possible.

But asking for a policy-change is only the first step.

We also believe that this city should submit a list of recommended projects on a definite priority basis relating to the expressway program.

The question of what to do about Rincon Ave. now closed by the expressway has many facets.

It is one that has developed into a fracas of one 'guesstimate' vs. another 'guesstimate', each one having considerable merit. Still there is no crystal ball around to bolster the arguments of either side.

The Press strongly advocated two years ago that both Rincon and Latimer avenues be opened.

Today we are not sure whether the opening of these streets would hinder or help the immediate traffic problems of our community. We also don't have a crystal ball.

We, therefore, suggest that the opening of Rincon Ave. either by a signalized grade crossing or vehicular overpass be recommended as a possible FUTURE possibility, after more facts on the overall traffic pattern are available. Therefore this recommendation would have a low priority on the city's list.

BUT we believe that top priority should be given for an adequate pedestrian overpass at Rincon Ave. We need no crystal ball for this. This project is needed now and undoubtedly will be even in greater demand by the time expressway money begins flowing.

This overpass need not be located, however, right at Rincon where it could conceivably interfere with any future construction of another type of grade crossing.

It has been suggested by an outstanding civic leader that a pedestrian overpass possibly could be located between Budd Ave. and Rincon with walkways to it so that foot traffic from both streets could use it.

This idea we believe should be explored to the fullest. Such a ped-overpass would drop its traffic onto either city-owned or school-district owned land. So that would be no problem.

With respect to the other phases of the city's recommendation we submit that most of those made by the city staff could be considered.

tax-levying profession.

TAXES HAVE always been a rather unpleasant subject of discussion. There has never been a political campaign to our knowledge in which a tax issue of some sort was not presented.

The current governor's race in California is no exception.

Both candidates have advocated tax cuts. However, Ronald Reagan hasn't mentioned where he intended to raise the money to replace the funds lost through his suggested tax cuts.

Gov. Pat Brown, who also stands for substantial tax cuts, has advocated the turning back of $5 billion of the federal income tax to the states on a population and tax burden formula which he estimates would be worth about $500 million to the state.

We don't know how sound Pat's formula is. But we suggest Ronnie better dig up something like it.

It is sad but true that when one cuts one place one has to dig some-else in order to get the dough that is lost.

A FEW PARAGRAPHS back we mentioned that our individual property tax base last year was $9.127 per $100 of assessed valuation.

That's high. But in comparison with a group of bay area cities, it appears in quite a favorable light.

San Francisco has a $10.61 rate and is exceeded by at least 10 other cities in the bay area.

For example, Berkeley has $13.38 (suppose to be the highest in the state); Piedmont, $12.09; Fremont, $11.57; Oakland, $11.53; Livermore, $11.25; Alameda, $11.19 and Hayward, $11.15.

ATTEMPTING to reconcile the constant demand for increased services and the rising costs of operation with a realistic tax rate is a difficult assignment.

Our school district officials, in our opinion, recognize their responsibility to the taxpayer in this respect. They ask for only what they need in the way of taxes.

Apparently the district taxpayers appreciate this. On July 26 the high school district voters approved an increase in the maximum tax rate by almost a two to one margin, indicating their confidence in the district leadership. The tax hike was necessary basically to finance the operation of two new high schools.

A RECENT note from Larry Hill, high school district superintendent, expressing appreciation for the support of The Press, included a point which we think emphasizes this responsibility district leaders feel toward the taxpayer.

Larry pointed out that, prior to the election, district officials had pledged that the tax increase the next year would only go up 12 cents. He noted with satisfaction that the increase next year would only be .039 cents.

IN AN ELECTION next Tuesday the Campbell elementary school district is asking the voters to approve a CONTINUATION of the present general purpose tax rate of $2.55 for another five years. The present authorization which was approved in 1962 expires in 1967.

It seems fairly obvious that, if the present tax rate has been necessary for the past five years, it will continue to be necessary in the future.

Three new schools have been opened during the past five years; the enrollment in the district has increased by 2500; there are 75 more teachers and the operating budget has gone up $2 million.

IT SEEMS logical that the 'continuation' is necessary under the circumstances. We heartily urge a strong vote of approval.

We maintain that a vote of confidence of the people is often just as important as when they rise up to smack somebody down who has done them wrong.

We urge a YES vote

On Tuesday, Sept. 20, voters in the Campbell Union (elementary) School District will be asked to approve the continuation of the current general purpose tax rate of the district of $2.55 per $100 assessed valuation.

The current rate was authorized by the voters of the district in 1962 and the district officials are asking that it be continued for another five years.

Since the tax rate was authorized in 1962, three new schools have been opened, the enrollment has increased by 2500 in the district and 75 additional teachers have been employed.

The district's operation budget in that time has gone from $4 million to $6 million.

It seems logical and obvious to us that if the tax rate was necessary in 1962 to operate the district, it certainly is more so today because of the increased costs.

We, therefore, urge a yes vote of confidence next Tuesday on the continuation of the current maximum tax rate of the Campbell elementary school district.

furthering of public understanding of law enforcement has been aimed at the education of the police officer, particularly in the area of human relations. Morgan points out there is a definite need as well for the citizens to know the roll of the police officer.

The classes will be held from 7 until 10 p.m. Following this 3 hour presentation will be 3 hours of "field work." Citizens will accompany an officer on a night of their choosing and make the "rounds" with him. This is a chance to see law enforcement in action. Necessarily, these classes are limited. Residents wishing to participate are urged to apply now by picking up application blanks at the Campbell Police Department, 75 N. Central Ave. Classes will be filled on the basis of request and the date that the application is received.

Chief Morgan extends a personal invitation to all to join in an active program to create a better understanding of the law enforcement agency and how it can fulfill its obligation to make the community a better and safer place to live.

Planners okay plans for new construction in city

Plans for a convalescent hospital, a lodge hall, a small commercial development and two warehouses recieved the blessing of the Planning Commission at last week's commission meeting.

During the marathon session which lasted to midnight, the planners also approved two zone changes and three use permits.

On the negative side the commissioners denied a side-yard variance request of Oleg Lubeckis at 511 Division St.

The commission continued hearings until September 19 on the application of Ernest R. Cook for a zone change from R-1 to CH (highway commercial) at 282 Sunnyoaks, and for a use permit of Daniel O'Keefe at 261 McGlincey Lane for an automobile spray paint booth.

Also continued to the same meeting was the request for approval of plans for Elmo Pardini for an equipment and storage yard at 735 McGlincey Lane. The continuation was voted because Pardini was not present at the meeting of the architectural review committee which preceded the commission meeting.

THREE SIGNS

The commission approved three signs for commercial developments in town.

One of the approvals, however, for a sign for "Betty's Inn" at 2067 Winchester Blvd., specified that the sign had to be placed flat against the building and could not protrude. The imposition of this condition was opposed by Bill Harrison, owner of the building.

Harrison told the commission that it was necessary for the sign to extend over the sidewalk in order for the new business to be spotted. He claimed that many other signs were protruding in the same vicinity and that such a requirement was unfair.

The commissioners, however, explained that they were attempting to regulate the new signs being requested based on the new ordinance and that they had denied other protruding signs.

The commission approved a 24-foot high free-standing sign proposed for the Plaza Theater now being constructed in the Campbell Plaza Shopping Center. The sign which would be of the reader-type to display coming attractions would have a display area of 200 sq. feet.

The other sign approved was for a pole sign and fascia for the front and side of Shony's Boatland now under construction at 877 E. Hamilton Ave.

The commissioners, however, reduced the height of the proposed pole sign from 71-feet to 35-feet.

SPEEDY OK

Following the recommendation of the architectural review committee (Jack Healey and Kel Young), the commissioners gave speedy approval to the plans for the proposed I.O.O.F. Hall that will be located at 276 E. Campbell Ave., the site of the former two-story hall that has been condemned and demolished.

Approved also were the plans for a 70-bed convalescent hospital at 100-130 Union Ave., as submitted by Phillip Sondeno and associates.

Routine approval was also given the plans for a commerical development (to include a Speedee Mart and other stores) on property at Bascom and Apricot. The plans were submitted by Mrs. Elizabeth M. Gunn.

The plans for a warehouse for 171 Lost Lake Lane as submitted by Calvin Falcon got the commission okay as did the ones for a warehouse and industrial building at 695 McGlincey Lane as presented by Kato Brothers, Inc.

ZONE CHANGES

Proposed zone changes getting the commission's okay at the public hearings conducted, included:

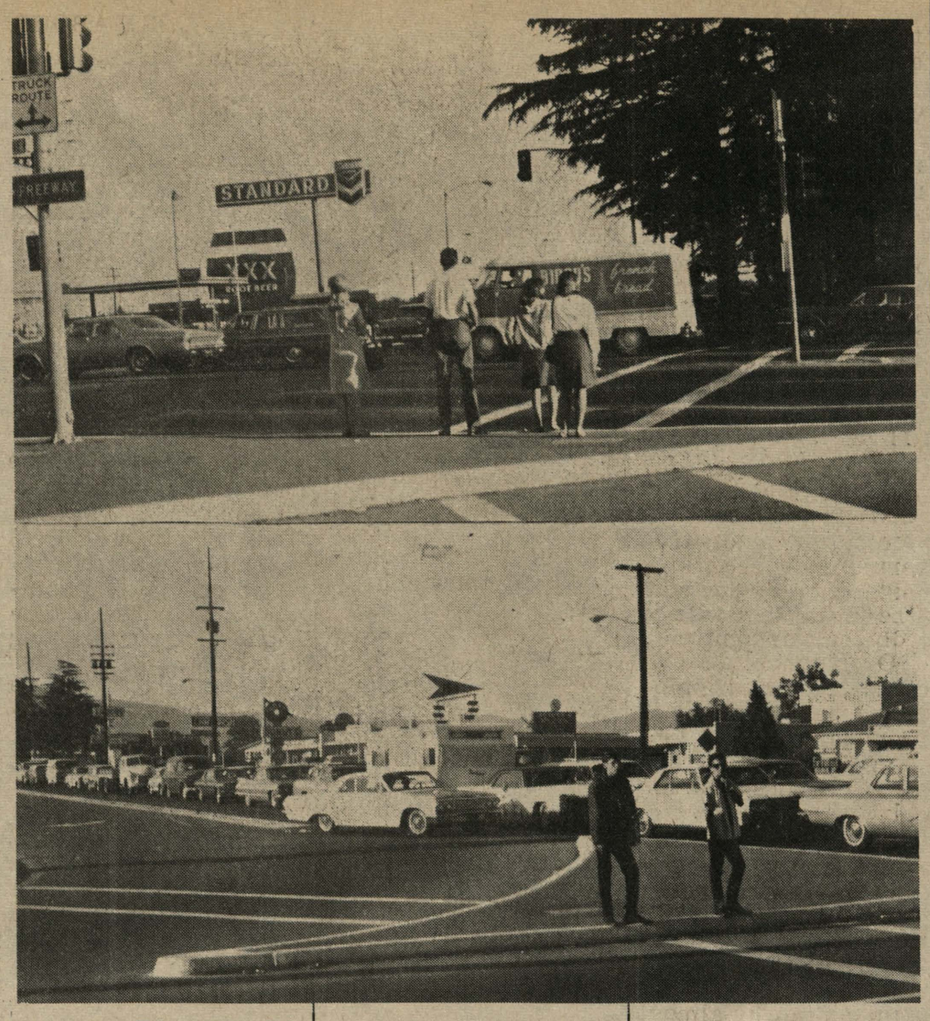
1. The request of Snowden-Pencer Corporation, a manufacturer of surgical instruments, now located in Los Gatos. The firm desires to build a 12,000 sq. ft. plant on the west portion of a 3-acre parcel at 1587 Dell Ave., in the restricted CM zone.

The request to develop a smaller parcel than the existing CM zoning allows (from CM-80 to CM-60) was okayed.

2. Pre-zoning of properties being annexed to the city (San Tomas 1966-4 located at 1300-1370 Harriett Ave., and 1689 Walters Ave., to R-1 (single-family residential.)

USE PERMITS

Use permits were granted to W.D. Perry to allow a convalescent hospital to be located at the northeast corner of Pollard and Burrows Road; (2) to the Campbell Christian Church to allow a day nursery in buildings located at 1075 W. Campbell Ave., and (3) to R.V. Cloud to allow a restaurant and cocktail lounge to be located at 301 E. Hacienda in CM zone.



BUMPER-TO-BUMPER --Students going to Del Mar High calmly took the monumental traffic congestion at Hamilton-Bascom in stride at 8 a.m. on Monday. Probably much more so than the drivers of the cars who were stretched all four ways waiting for the signal changes.

Expressway hearing

that it was important that Rincon be cut through in order to give the city another needed east-west arterial.

John Billmeyer, a member of the Parks Commission, emphasized the need for a pedestrian overpass at Rincon in order to get full utilization of the city park that is planned in that area. He felt that there was a better chance to get approval of the pedestrian overpass from the county committee than if a grade crossing was recommended.

Fred Chez, a major developer and property owner in the Latimer-Hamilton area, said that a pedestrian overpass at Latimer which had been suggested by the Planning Commission did not appear to be warranted. He urged the City Council to be realistic in its recommendation.

Planning Commissioner Frank Klein, who was in the audience, took exception to the argument of Chez about the Latimer pedestrian overpass. Klein claimed that Chez did not live in the area and therefore, did not know how necessary such a crossing was for the children.

MAYOR DOETSCH

Mayor Ralph Doetsch indicated during the hearing that it was important that Rincon be opened by a signalized crossing and claimed it would be more economical than to build a pedestrian overpass and add a right-turn off-ramp for southbound traffic.

CITY COUNCIL

In their discussion after the hearing was closed, the councilmen floundered in their attempt to come up with any definite proposal as to what projects the city should include in its recommendation.

Councilman Charles Rose felt that the city should submit the "whole works" and maintained that we "should not ask for just a half melon".

Councilman Homer Hyde said that the city's case was no different than an individual; there simply were more places to spend the money than there was money available.

He felt that there were other major streets in town that were of higher priority because of higher traffic volume than Rincon and Latimer. He emphasized, however, that a pedestrian overpass was necessary at Rincon.

Councilman Ed Rogers maintained that a definite need had been shown for a pedestrian overpass at Rincon and the recommendations of the city should be based on immediate needs or those that can be definitely foreseen.

Councilman Smeed emphasized that as this city's representative on the county policy committee, it was important for him to know what changes had taken place in the last two years to reverse the city's stand on the opening of Latimer and Rincon.

Hyde said basically that there was a great deal of emotion involved in the stand of two years ago and today there are other streets in town that are more important from a traffic-carrying point of view.

They unanimously approved Rose's motion that the cost of expressway projects should be shared by all the county and that it was not fair for an expressway city to be charged for expressway projects that benefit the entire county. Specific projects will be submitted later.

That in essence will be the message from Campbell that Smeed will present tonight at the County Transportation Policy meeting.

Six ways to cut the cost of your winter heating bills.

1. Have your heating system checked now.
Don't let the first cold snap catch you unprepared for winter. Call your furnace man. He'll make sure your furnace is in safe working order with your gas pilots operating.

2. Insulate.
Insulate floors and ceilings and you'll cut heating costs up to 45%. Good insulation increases the value of your home—it often pays for itself in just a few seasons.

3. Weatherstrip.
Weatherstripping around doors and windows plugs heat leaks and keeps cold air outside. A doorjamb may require a metal strip to take the constant friction of opening and closing. Loose windows may need a thick felt stripping.

4. Close dampers and drapes.
When not using your fireplace, close the damper. If you leave it open, heat escapes. Also, 16% of your heat can be lost through windows with open drapes.

5. Set your thermostat—and leave it.
Frequent changes in room temperature settings mean a bigger heating bill. Agree on a healthy thermostat setting (say 70°) and leave it there.
If Junior says he's cold, put a sweater on him.

6. Change filters.
Most forced air furnaces have filters to trap dust. For maximum heat flow they should be replaced every six months. Clean dust and lint out of wall and floor heaters periodically, too.

Bigger bills, but lower rates.
Your winter PG&E bills will reflect increased heating and lighting, TV watching, more hot meals and more appliances in use.
But there have been five reductions in PG&E gas and electric rates in the past three years. So summer and winter, your PG&E service is a bigger family bargain than ever.

The Administration says it is requesting only $3.385 billion in foreign aid funds. But Representative Otto E. Passman (D-La.), Chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee for Foreign Aid, has branded this figure as fictitious and misleading.

In a recent circular to his colleagues in the House of Representatives, Passman claims the true figure is nine billion, 166 million, 688 thousand dollars. Even this figure, he points out, does not include military assistance for South Vietnam and $930 million in supplemental budget requests already approved this year.

The Administration figures are misleading because foreign aid has been so fragmentized and entwined in the budget that it is almost impossible to untangle it. Not counted in the $3.385 billion figure is almost another $5 billion in what is called "Category I" aid.

The Peace Corps, for example, will get $112 million additional, the Agriculture Department will get $1.6 billion for foreign distribution of surplus food, and the Inter-American Development Bank will get $250 million. Total "Category I" aid is $8.29 billion.

"Category II" foreign aid includes such items as $100 million in contributions to international organizations, $70 million for permanent construction overseas, and $41 million to the Ryukyu Islands. With other activities like the International Atomic Commission, education of foreign students, and care of migrants and refugees, total "Category II" aid is $876 million.

Thus through fifteen fragmented programs, the Administration is requesting, as Passman points out, a total of $9.166 billion, not the mere $3.385 billion which is publicly mentioned as foreign aid.

Passman makes an even more dramatic revelation when he produces figures which show that with the $16.925 billion which is unspent and unliquidated from prior years, the Administration would have the fantastic sum of 26 billion, 91 million, 822 thousand dollars available to = able to spend in foreign aid.

"This", Passman points out," is a partial answer as to why we are now having inflation, deficit financing, continuing increases in the public debt, continuing balance of payment deficits and a continuing loss in our gold reserves. . .Congress should allow the Executive Branch what it needs, rather than what it asks for, which is usually far in excess of actual needs. . .".

The foreign aid balance sheet seems to bear out Congressman Passman's point. For ten consecutive years Congress has cut foreign aid funds requested by the Administration by whopping percentages.

The requests have been reduced by an average of almost 25% for a total cut in ten years of $8.374 billion. But in spite of anguished cries from supporters of foreign aid, they still have almost $17 billion which has not been spent.

Premature Campbell baby survives dangerous respiratory ailment at Stanford Clinic

by GRACE HEBARD

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene D. Birk of 654 Jeffrey Ave., in Campbell looked forward to the birth of their third child. They already had two little girls and hoped for a son. The baby was a boy, but he was born two months too early and weighed only four pounds.

Even in their initial disappointment at the premature birth, the Birks had little idea of the two month's ordeal ahead of them. Their baby was kept alive with a respirator in an isolate and around-the-clock-care from a special team of doctors and nurses.

This special care was provided at the Clinical Research Center for Premature Infants in the Stanford Medical School Section at Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital. The center is one of two in the United States devoted exclusively to research into problems of newborn and premature infants.

In addition to being premature, little Rodney suffered from hyaline-membrane disease, a respiratory ailment that kills 25,000 babies a year in the United States. This is the same disease that claimed the life of Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, the late President's infant son in 1963.

One treatment developed at the center uses a respirator, which takes over the exhausting breathing process for the baby. Oxygen is blown into the infant's lungs through a plastic tube that has been inserted through a nostril into the windpipe.

On the fourth day of Rodney's life, one of his lungs ruptured. More tubes were inserted into his chest and into his stomach to feed him. He was given three blood transfusions. During that first tense week, Mrs. Birk stayed with friends, in order not to upset her two daughters, Cindy, 3 and Sheri, 6. After one week Rodney was taken off the respirator and he began to gain weight.

Just when things began to look better, Rodney suffered a setback. A cyst was discovered on his lungs. He was returned to the isolette ward and given treatment for the cyst. In five days it disappeared.

RODNEY GOES HOME

It wasn't too long after that, that little Rodney was well enough to be taken home. He is now a 14 pound, 5 months old baby, and just what his parents hoped for. Mrs. Birk reports that Rodney is approximately a month and a half behind other babies in development but he is normal and healthy in every way.

The Birks realize how many parents have to come a long distance to have their child treated at the Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital. Mrs. Birk is anxious to organize a Mother's Club to provide accomodations for parents while their babies are receiving care. Anyone interested in helping with this project are invited to call her at 378-4525.

The Clinical Research Center for Premature infants operates on a Federal Grant. However, more money is desperately needed to augment the program. Donations to help research in this field should be directed to the Premature Infant Research Fund, care of Eugene Birk, San Jose Savings and Loan Association, 777 N. First St., San Jose, Calif.

DURING CRISIS--Little Rodney Birk, born prematurely to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Birk of 654 Jeffrey Ave. in March, is pictured in the isolette ward at the Clinical Research Center for Premature Infants at Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital. He was fed through a tube inserted into his stomach when one of his lungs ruptured.

RODNEY TODAY--A picture of health and contentment. Rodney is now nearly six months old, and making good progress.

City council to meet with W V college board

Members of the Campbell City Council and governing board members of the West Valley Junior College District will hold a joint meeting next Monday, Sept. 19, to discuss mutual problems, it was reported at the City Council meeting Monday.

In another extra-curricula activity, scheduled for the same week, it was agreed that each of the five councilmen will take part in a unique presentation of city problems and plans at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting on Thursday, Sept. 22, at the Villa Felice.

Each councilmen will devote five minutes to a particular phase of the city. After the joint effort, they will accept questions from those attending the luncheon, the first of the new season for the C. of C. City Manager Bob Stephens and other staff members will be present to backstop the city fathers.

COLLEGE BOARD

The joint meeting with the junior college board has been planned for some time, for there are a number of sticky questions council members feel need answering.

Campbell city officials have been concerned over college plans, if any, for future use of the Campbell school property. The college has started its third year of "temporary" occupation.

Other mutual problems are scheduled for discussion. City Manager Stephens and Dr. Wallace Hall, college president, are jointly drafting the agenda for the evening.

CITATION

At the council meeting last Monday, the city was presented with a "pedestrian safety citation" award from the American Automobile Association because there had been no pedestrian deaths in the city in 1965.

The citation was presented by Gary W. DeRosa, district manager of the California State Automobile Association.

The council referred to the staff for study the request of owners of "The Pocket", 1719 S. Bascom and "Campbell Billiard Center," 266 E. Campbell Ave., that the present city ordinance be amended which governs their billiard parlors.

The billiard parlor owners, who cater to the younger trade, request that the age limit for billiard facilities where no liquor is served now in effect be lifted so long as city curfew hours are followed, except where parents or guardians are present. They also want to have their places open after 1 a.m.

Thomas E. Taylor, Chuck Wagner and Sal A. Ruiz of "The Pocket" and Clark G. Iverson and Frank O. Whitham, of the "Campbell Billiard Center" made the request.

OTHER ACTIONS

In other actions, the council:

--REFERRED to staff for comparison with other cities, the suggestion that three Planning Commission members attend the League of California Cities convention in October in San Diego.

--AWARDED the contract for street "slurring" maintenance to Highway Safety Supply Co., for $3700, low bidder for the 14 streets involved.

--GAVE first reading to four new ordinances, one an annexation (Pollard-San Tomas) and three zone changes.

--ADOPTED an ordinance updating the building code of the city by reference including a swimming pool ordinance.

--ADOPTED a zoning ordinance affecting Pyramid Homes between Latimer and Hamilton.

--APPROVED a comprehensive beautification committee report, submitted by Councilman Ed Rogers, which included a number of citywide projects for the future.

Pamela Stolz and Anthony Miller join married ranks

MRS. ANTHONY E. MILLER
(Pamela Stolz)

Three bridesmaids preceded Pamela Joanne Stolz down the aisle of the First Methodist Church of Campbell when she pledged vows with Anthony E. Miller. The attractive bride was given in marriage by her father, Harry Alexander, before an assemblage of 150 friends and relatives. Rev. William H. Gould was the officiating minister.

Pamela was lovely in her empire gown of white linen with lace trim on the yoke and sleeves and around the edge of the skirt. Her fingertip veil was secured with overlapping net petals at the crown and she carried a cascade of white carnations and stephanotis centered with a single white orchid.

Mrs. Alan Gariano of San Francisco was matron of honor, Paula Helmuth of San Jose and Joan Telfen of Morgan Hill were the bridesmaids. They wore gowns of two shades of pink with matching pink net headpieces. Their bouquets of pink carnations and rosebuds were tied with pink satin ribbons.

Lee Jordan of Palo Alto was the best man and ushering were Melvin Flournoy of Ben Lomond, Malcolm Perry and Robert Raineri of San Jose.

A reception for the newlyweds was held at the Los Gatos History Club. A three-tiered wedding cake decorated with pink roses and a miniature bride and groom, was the centerpiece of the buffet table.

The young couple honeymooned in Carmel before establishing their home in San Jose.

Pamela is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Alexander of 151 Coventry Drive, Campbell. A 1962 graduate of Campbell High School, she will graduate from San Jose State College in February with a major in sociology.

Her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Miller, 420 Patch St., San Jose. He is a graduate of Del Mar High School and attended Foothill and West Valley Colleges.

Unusnal dance concert to be presented at local college

On Friday evening Sept. 16, West Valley College will present a program in dance by Elizabeth Harris with Thatcher Clarke. The public is invited and admission is free. The program will be presented in the College Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Miss Harris, who earned her wide reputation as choreographer and dancer on the East Coast and abroad, will present four of her major solo works. The most recent, "Before the Music Ends", commissioned by the festival in honor of Hanya Holm 1965, is a collage of sound effects and action using 54 categories of props. It has been hailed as "highly amusing and highly original" and, "A haunting work worth seeing many times."

She was awarded a Ford Foundation grant as choreographic consultant for the design of a theater for dance, part of the published "The Ideal Theatre: Eight Concepts." The designs and model of the theater have toured all over the world.

Thatcher Clarke, who will accompany Miss Harris with two of his own works on the program, is recognized as one of America's leading dancers. The culmination of his performing career came in 1964 when he was invited by Dame Margot Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev to join their concert company on a round-the-world tour.

An enjoyable evening is anticipated by all lovers of the ballet.

Grass Roots

FOLIAGE FOR COLOR

Flowers in bloom may provide most of what color a gardener grows, but they are not the whole story. In fact, as flowers go in and out of bloom, they often leave us with little or no color at all.

More permanent, if less brilliant, are the numerous plants and shrubs with decorative foliage. On the color scale these are limited to shades of gray, yellow, bronze or plum, but their use in combination with each other and with green can give us varied and pleasant backgrounds of color whether we have flowers at one given time or not.

A vivid example of this approach can be seen in a planting of Silver King Artemesia. This perennial bears foliage which is somewhere between snowy-white and gray, and it stands out like a beacon in the garden.

Or try Beach Wormwood, another member of the artemesia family which often passes as Dusty Miller.

Dusty Millers are similar to artemesia in the near whiteness of their silvery foliage. They are different in the fact that they bear yellow flowers in summer. The most commonly planted Dusty Miller is offered quite inexpensively as a bedding plant or can be found also in gallon cans, according to the California Association of Nurserymen.

One combination that always works well is Dusty Miller with Fiberous Begonia.

Deeper, greener grays may be had from Pineapple Guava or from the Karo Pittosporum, both good shrubs for an informal screen or background. Pineapple Guave produces edible fruit. The flowers which precede the fruit are edible, too, and much prized in tropical fruit salads.

These two grays can be planted in combination with the Purple Hopseed Bush. In cool weather, this latter becomes a deep purple color.

Yellow foliage is not to be overplanted in any garden, but spotted here and there, or even used in a hedgerow, as with the Golden Privet, it can brighten a garden. Some of the best shrubs for this type planting include: Variegated English Holly, especially the variety "Golden Queen"; Golden Euonymus or Gold Spot Euonymus, two showy shrubs for the border planting; Gold Dust Aucuba or one of its relatives which seem to have more yellow than green in their make-up; and any of the various Golden Arborvitae.

There are many more colorful foliage shrubs available. Check out the following in a C.A.N. nursery: Red Japanese Maple, Purple Leaf Plum, Purple Leaf Flax, Variegated False Holly; and the Holly Grape and Fraser's Photinia.

Campbell high school district welcomes 12,000 students

Campbell Crier

by DAVE TURNER

School bells tolled for Campbell High students once again Monday, and a new year is underway. Very soon that great educational institution and its full slate of varied activities will be in high gear.

As the Campbell Crier, I, Dave Turner, will keep you informed on the outcome of past events, the progression of present activities, and the advance of forthcoming ventures by students and groups on campus.

But first, I think it is proper that I introduce myself. Entering my fourth year at Campbell, I will, as befits all four-year men, be a senior. My studies have included a wide range of college prep courses, including two years of journalism.

During my second year of studying the newspaperman's art, I was made managing editor of the school's bi-monthly publication, the Campus Echo.

My high school career has also included membership in the Honor Society, participation on all levels of and football teams, and being elected president of the Junior class. This year should find me prusuing a similar line of activities, even so far as to make a run for the Senior class presidency.

I spent the first six weeks of this summer at the University of Nevada in Reno studying field ecology with 29 other boys from every corner of our country. It was a marvelous introduction to field sciences and the best summer I've ever had.

Following high school I plan to attend San Jose State College or the University of California at Santa Cruz, majoring in some field of biological sciences. Professional sports have always been my ideal career choices, but I've grown rather pessimistic about my chances on that front.

It's now time to get acquainted with the new teachers who will be stalking the halls of Campbell in search of young minds to bend into shape.

As school opens, we greet 14 teachers new to our campus. These instructors and their respective departments of education are:

Mr. Luis Bouchard, English and Social Studies; Mr. Clifton DeMartini, Science and Math; Mrs. Joyce Dickey, Language Lab.;

Also Mrs. Anela Dillion, Homemaking; Mr. Larry Doyle, Industrial Arts; Mr. John Ewert, Sciences;

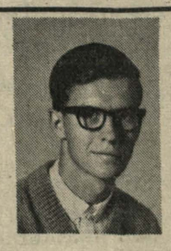
Also Mrs. Carol Kreppel, Girls' P.E.; Mr. Wayne Metcalf, Science and Math; Mr. Robert Osborn, Sophomore Science and coaching.

Also Miss Jean Sattler, Social Studies and Business; Mr. Richard Schafe, English and Social Studies; Mr. Michael Smith, English and Foreign Languages; Miss Margaret Tennant English and Foreign Languages.

Mr. John Quigley, talented artist and devoted teacher, will be returning to head up Campbell's art department after a one year leave which he spent working on his masters degree.

With these new faculty members joining the old standard bearers and the class of '67 being the most outstanding class academically in the school's history, expectations are astronomical and almost certain to be met.

Warrior World



by RUSS LONG

EDITOR'S NOTE: Russ Long is editor of the Westmont High School paper, the Warrior Shield. He has lived in the Campbell area for approximately fourteen years, and attended San Tomas School, Campbell Grammar School and began his high school career at Campbell High before Westmont was ready for occupancy.

Russ plays the saxophone in Westmont's Pep band. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Long of 1100 Bucknam Ave., Campbell.

Westmont opened its doors for the third year Monday with the largest enrollment in its short history. A total of 2,000 students will be attending classes this fall, with a faculty of 82.

It is my pleasure as editor of the Westmont Warriors' Shield to be bringing this column to you. Being in this position, I have access to news of school activities, therefore offering more complete coverage.

Since this column is being written before school has opened, I don't have too much news of student activities. With the help of the administration, and some faculty members, I have come up with this.

C. Warren Conrad will again be principal, with Jay Russell as Director of Education.

We have two new deans this year. Mrs. Laulette Hicks, who replaced Mrs. Dorothy Shronk last year, will be the Dean of Girls. Harold Sontag will be Dean of Boys. Burl Fields, who Sontag replaces, is now the assistant principal at Leigh. We wish him luck, as we are sorry to see him go.

Archie Dwyer has replaced Richard Williams as Director of Student Activities. Williams has returned to classroom teaching, although he will be in charge of the snack bar.

We have a new English department head. Mrs. Lolita Johnson, from Blackford High, replaces Bryan Misselbrook, who has returned to his native England.

Physical education will be under the direction of Junior Morgan, replacing John Oldham. Oldham is now teaching at San Jose City College.

Due to the large enrollment this year, lockers will have to be shared by the freshmen, sophomores and juniors. Only seniors will be allowed a locker to themselves.

There is a new lunch procedure in the cafeteria. I don't have any details on it, but it is an a la carte system... more details next week.

Friday's meeting of the local 4-H Club will include a report by Marie Brown, a delegate to the State Leadership Conference at Davis, and the installation of new officers.

SCHOOL DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN--The Campbell-Winchester intersection this week was loaded many times as West Valley College and Campbell High students mingled with the vehicular traffic to make the intersection look "just like downtown".

Student nurses to train at Good Samaritan

Student nurses will begin training at the Good Samaritan Hospital of Santa Clara Valley this month, coming to the hospital from San Jose State College and San Jose City College.

Announcement of the program came from Floyd A. Sorensen, administrator, who said instructors from the colleges will work with the hospital's department of nursing services in providing practical experience for the students. San Jose City College offers a two-year course in nursing.

WV College board seeks trustee

Would you like to be a college trustee?

There is a job open, non-paying, but a job, as a member of the Board of Trustees of West Valley College.

The vacancy was caused by the resignation of Edward A. Panelli following his removal of his home from the Campbell Union High School District, which he represented on the board, to the Los Gatos Joint Union High School District.

The other six board members are inviting anyone interested in filling out Panelli's unexpired term, which ends on June 30, 1967, to make application for the job by formal letter.

Such applications should be filed with Dr. Wallace W. Hall, college president and secretary of the board before 5 p.m., Sept. 28.

Applicants will be interviewed by board members after that date and appointments can then be made.

Whoever is selected will have to stand for election in the April primary.

One word of warning: To be elegible for consideration, you must be a resident of the Campbell Union High School District, in order to fill the seat being vacated by Panelli.
